"ITEMS AT THE COURTS.

Mr J. R. Wood sent a native to prison for fourteen days, at the Magistracy, to-day for stealing a pair of shoes.

Two natives were fined $10 each, at the Magistracy to-day, for causing an obstruction at Yaumati by placing bheir conjuring stalls on the rendway.

Two natives were charged before Mr J. R. Wood, at the Magistracy, to-day, with stealing $52 from a money changer's shop in Des Voeux Road West. It appears that three men went into the" shop and one pointed out some clothing he wished to buy. In the meantime another picked up ! the money and promptly departed. The remaining two were arrested and were sentenced to six mouths' hard labour each.

A Chinese girl reported to the police that in a resturant at West Point a man puffed smoke in her face and this made her giddy. Then he accompanied her home and there substituted a pair of brass. rings for the gold ones she was wearing. When he appeared before Mr J. R. Wood, at the Magistracy, to-day, it was stated that he was an old offender, having returned from banishment. Amongst the marks by which the police identified the man was a snake tattooed on his forearm. This, prisoner said, was a dragon and he further said that the person who was banished must have been his twin brother who was very like him. Mr Wood, however, did not believe his story and sentenced the man to one year's hard labour and four hours

NEWS FROM ALL SOURCES.

The All-Red Route, proposed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the Colonial Conference two years ago to give rapid and direct com munication by railway and steamship be-tween Great Britain and Canada and Austrainsis, has coased to be regarded by the Government as a practical scheme.

A Committee of the Commons passed the Bill allowing the Great Western Railway to establish a steamer service from Plymouth and Weymouth to Brest, Nantes, and other ports on the west of France.

Mr William Metcalfe, who composed the famous hunting song "John Peek has died at Carlisle, aged eighty.

Siegmand Feinman, the great Jewisi actor and pioneer of the Jewish drama London, died on the stage at Lodz, Russia. He was the husband of Mme. Diana Feinman.

Suicide due to fright was the verdict at the inquest at Bethnal Green on Annie Dony, who, it was stated, died in the arms of a detective who had come to arrest her on suspicion of being concerned in the loss of some jewellery.

Mr Samuel Cresswell has been unanimously elected as the Unionist candidate for Mid-Derbyshire. In 1906 Mr Cresswell opposed Sir Alfred Jacoby; whose death has randered the by-election necessary.

The greatest dental operation on secord was performed upon an slephant in the city of Mexico. The aching tooth was 12in. long and 14in. in dismeter at the root. After the animal had been securely fastened with chains, his mouth was prised open and a quantity of cocaine applied to deaden the pain. When this was done a hole was bored through the tooth and an iron bar inserted. Then a rope was twisted around the bar and four horses attached to drag it out.

Mr G. D. Giles has painted a large picture of the King's horse Minore winning the Derby. When the picture was submitted for the King's inspection a the Jockey Club, Newmarkot, his Majesty. said it was a very good painting and added "It should engrave well."

Asked by a young soldier stationed in India to provide him with a wife, the Ipswich Guardians, it was announced at their meeting recently, found a woman in Stalliam, Norfolk, who has accepted the proposal

(From User Own Correspondent.) A GANG OF THEEVES Amor, July 30.

MOY WOTES

Periodically Kulangsu is visited by gangs. of thioven who carry on their nelariouscalling with a good don! of ingenuity. As the result of the stronuous efforts of the local police, some of them get caught, and others decamp, and our houses are loft in peace for a season: Quito recently one of these gangs has started work again, and overy other night or so they visit a house, and soldom leave without taking away something of values A Chinces family moved into a foreign house thist. wook, and they had not been in it two nights before they were robbed of a considerable amount of stuff. A night or su ago Mr. Fredrichs, of the I. M. Custome, was robbed of his gold watch, which was placed close by his bedside. Mr Fredrichs swoke and heard a man's footstops in the room, and rushed after him, but the thief was too quick, and flying, headlong down stairs, he was only just in time to see him boit right through the versudah shutters, and sway down the dark road. They are clever gentry, and it is very difficult to eatch thum at their tricks.

THE WEATHER.

In a country where typhoous abound, the topic of the weather is not quite so band as it is, perhaps, at home. "Ince" Sunday we have had nothing but North East wind, hot and dry, as if from a farnace. No wonder than the thermometer body suffers from a terrible thirst. So farthe typhoons causing this N.E. wind have not come very near us, though the barometer readings have been low, -it is only 29.63 as I write-but now rain has fallen, and, much as one dreads the actual typhoon itself, one cannot help wishing it would move more quickly from our neighbourhood, and whether with or without rain. suffer the barometer to go up, and thermometer to go down. Nearly a week's North East wind is a long spell in the summer (Einie, and is productive of much discomfort. BUSINESS PROSPICTS.

One is glad to see that business prospects are a little better just now. We have had a good many steamers in port lately. The s.s. Montengle and the s.s. China have Both called in for ten-s proof that the ten trade is by no means dead yet. Perhaps the new craze for China tea at home; as less "dyspectic" than Indian or Ceylon tens may help to revive the industry, and as the Chinese must plant something to take the place of the opium now, debarred, per chance they will once more take to planting ten say of yors! > ANOTHER DEATH. Messis Boyd and Co., have sustained a heavy loss in the death a few days ago in Tamsui of Mr A. F. Gardiner, who has filled for many years a prominent part in the business and social, life of Amoy. He has been ill off and on for some time. and went home a year or so go, heping to got completely restored to health, and he certainly was much better on his return. But evidently the needs of disease were too deeply rooted and he has alas succumbed in the prime of life, to the deep sorrow of his many friends. He was elected several times to a seat upon the Kulangeu Municipal Council and has always taken a deep interest in the life of the port. His sterling character and genial disposition endeared him to all who knew him, and I should fancy he has never made an enemy. He will be sincerely missed and genuinely mourned by scores of friends both out here and in the Homeland.

In the shipyards at Belfast belonging to Messra Harland and Wolff there are being built the two largest liners in the world. They will probably be called the Olympic and the Titanic, and are intended for the White Star Line for their Southampton-New York service. The boats will cost about £2,000,000 each, and will be ready early in 1912. The two gantres which had to be specially built at the shipyard cost £200,000. The passenger accom. Canton, August 2, 1909. probably for at least 2,500-and the crew will number nearly 1,000. The gross tonnage will be 45,000, as against the 32,500

The Flying Man

Nerve Strain and Exhaustion—

Mr. Henry Farman's marvellous conquest of the air is another of those brilliant triumphs of nerve force and endurance which are made possible by the vitalising potency of Phostering.

The master minus, the leaders of men, have ever been the foremost to esteem the energising efficacy of Phosterine, but the very importance and Hifficulty of Mr. Farman's historic achievement is the strongest possible proof of the supreme restorative qualities possessed by the greatest of all tonics. Mr. Farman expresses the warmest appreciation for the permanent staying power and resistance which Phosferine imparted to his nerve system, enabling him to withstand the severe strain of the unexpected risks and hazards of aerial flight.

Mr. Farman puts it on record that the very superabundance of energy imparted by Phosferine makes for mental and physical alertness, and in his own case, prevents the ill health and effects of exposure, which would so greatly increase the risks of his experiments.

Stopped and entirely prevented.

Mr. Henry Farmangthe marvellous "Flying Man," 22, Rue Avenue "de la Grande Armee, Paris, writes :_ "I am pleased to endorse the merits of Phosterine as a nerve tonic of the highest quality. As an peroplanistany nerve system is continually subjected to the severe strain of unexpected risks and hazards, but I have found Phosferine to be a splendid bulwark against all kinds of exhaustion. Your preparation imparts and stimulates a mental alertness and physical energy which has contributed immensely to the success of my arrial flights. Even the most careful calculations are apt to be upset by the effects of exposure, but in my case Phosferine has completely fortified me against all such evils. At the present time I am in excellent health and spirits, both sleeping and eating well, and this desirable condition is certainly due to Phosferine."-February 17, 1909.

OLD MALAY LAWS. Some interesting, dotails of the early laws in existence among the inhabitants of Kedah (Malay Peninsula) are given in the Intest administration report of the State. In the earliest times, it is stated, when the peninsula formed an unbroken line with all the islands of the Indian Archipelugo, which according to tradition have since been separated by some covulsion of nature, the first inhabitants are said have come in vessels from the Red. Sen. These people were generally supposed to have been banished from Egypt and "consisted of individuals professing different rollgious persuasions and carried with thom in their exile their different modes of worship and articles of belief. Thus they came and lived in a horde without fixed habitation and without the protection of regular Government or the restraint of established law; respect for age was the only substitute for civil abedience. The oldest man of the harde was considered its chief, and regulated its simple movements." The earliest code, 'according to Middlekoop's collection, is attributed to ji Saka in the 75th year of the Christian era. 基校乾 Most accounts of him are entirely fanciful, as he was supposed to be gifted with super-西寶棒樣 natural powers which enabled him to sail on the wind over mountains and access continents. His code was not a savere one. A thief was bound to make restitution of the stolen property and pay in addition a fine in cattle or produce. If the theft was considerable he became the slave of the injured party or his relations, without however being transferable to another master. Murder was not punished by death but by a heavy fine and perpetual servitude in the family of the deceased. An abstract of these laws is said to have been in force till A.D. 900, or in some places as late as A.D. 1300 The second code known to Malays is not traceable in" Kedah, but originated probably in Java, and fearful were the penalties. A sound knowledge of the Penal Code was ensured, not by examination, 金山西瓜 but by the following provise :-"If a judge be found ignorant of the law he shall have his tongue out out; if his; assistant, while acting for the judge, proves deficient in the knowledge, of his duty, he too shall have his tongue cut out, lose both his ears, or have hot iron applied to his ling." Untruthful affidavita were discouraged by a short, section to the offect that whoever makes any incorrect statement in writing shall be punished by the loss of both hands. A thief or murderer might be killed if caught in the act, but if he escaped and was caught subsequently, he would suffer servitude or a fine. females is necessary. The tenets of the Koran also still Fule all

With the advent of Mahomedanism came the Koran, which lays down the moral code once for all, but for criminal offences considerable modification is now necessary; it is no longer possible to extract the eyes or teeth of a person, nor to lopoff the hand that stole. These Mosaic-like sentences have, of course, been in abeyance in Kedah for the last 200 years or so, but the law of evidence is still often though not invariably applied. This requires in nearly all crimes that for conviction the evidence of two males or of one male and two questions of divorce or inheritance, while the custom of "bersumpah" or solemn oath also originates from the same source, and is frequently applied. The oath is effected by taking the plaintiff or defendant, in a case in which there is some doubt, to the mosque and there one or other may clinch his arguments by solumnly swearing forty times with the Koran on his head, that his story is true. When this is done the op posite party in the suit usually accepts the oath without demur. The practice has in some instances proved useful in the course of justice, but more often it is to be feared the hardened sinner swears himself off

As edict still stands permitting any one to shoot at or kill without guilt, any person who enters a village or "enclosure by night without a light. It must be recorded that this edict has not been taken advantage of in recent years. The scale of punishments now in force, with the exception of murder cattle and stealing, is growth from case law.

SCOTTISH LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent) EDIMAURAH, July 9:

THE MASTER OF ELIDANES.

A short time ago, when the Hone Mr Murray (known in Scotland as the Master of Elibank) announced his intention to leaving Peobles and Selkirk and contenting Midlothing at the next General Election, there was a good deal of gossip over his intiniation that he had consulted Mr Asquith before changing his constituency. It was shrawdly guessed that this was semething more than a more shuffling of the electoral cards. No one was taken unawares, therefore, at his promotion from the Whip's room to a seat on the Treasury bench. The only surprise was that he should be made Under Secretary for India in place of Mr. Buchanan, the expectation being that he was destined for some foreign or Colonial post, preferably

To the regret of all parties in the North it is learnt that Mr Buchanan's retirement is due to ill-health. It could not be said that he was ever popular, rather he was well liked, and in all his contests for Scottishconstituencies he left behind him no bad blood. His present constituency is looked upon as safe; he defeated the Marquis of Tullibardine by a large majority at the General Election; and it is understood that he will retain his place in Parliament when relieved from Departmental duties. HIS MORNING MILE

Saye the Line :- Ragging in the Army bas, as we all know, been rigorously suppressed, and so far as we are able to judge is is now virtually non-existent-in India at any rate. Things have, in fact, taken Anther an opposite turn, and young officers straight from Sandhurst, who know more about soldiering than their own Colonels, and who do not acruple to say so, meet with kindly and forbearing treatment which almost amounts to what is known as petting. We speak of India. A most touching case has recently come under our observation of the kindness and forethought of a senior subaltorn and a mess president of a certain gallant cavalry crops. A young officer, who has just joined, had reason to complain that he did not get his milk at a sufficiently early hour in the morning. He reported it to the mess president who, after expressing his great serrow at this thing, directed the senior subaltern to see it being immediately rectified. The senior subsltern directed three other subsiterns to see to their young brother officer's comfort in the matter of his early morning milk. It was done. But the bestintentioned offorts often gang agley, and instead of trying two fair white milch cows to the young officer's bed in order that he might have his milk at any hour that he wanted it-in their haste they, by mistake, tied up two commissariat bullocks-who. we hear, behaved in a way that was the reverse of gentlemanly. Now in the old bad ragging days something disagreeable would have almost certainly have been done to this young officer.
